Step 1: Assess Yourself and Your Business Idea

Self-Evaluation and Checklist for Starting a New Business

Before going into business for yourself, you may wish to determine the viability of your business venture. You can start by completing the following checklist.

Definitely	Very Likely	Not Sure
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	1. Is there a real market for the product or service?
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	2. Can you access the market?
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	3. Is your product or service competitive with others?
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	4. Is the risk manageable? Can you personally survive a failure?
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	5. Is the cash flow from operations adequate?
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	6. Will your income be adequate?

<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	9. Are you realistic? Do you have an objective and not just an "I can take on the world" attitude?
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	10. Can you obtain the necessary financing capital?
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	11. Is there a reliable supply of materials to make the product or perform the service?
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	12. Can you find enough good people to staff the organization?
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	13. Can you obtain the required professional and technical assistance when necessary?

<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	15. Are promotion ability and charisma required and do you have these qualities?
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	16. Can you work well with customers and others?
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	17. Can you work comfortably with regulations, government permits and restrictions?
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	18. Has this business been tried before? If not, are you sure it can be done?
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	19. Are you aware of who your competition is, and can you successfully deal with them?
<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	20. Would customers buy from you rather than from your competition?

Do You Have a Feasible Idea?

A good business idea must be able to fill a need or a want of consumers. Generating this successful idea is one of the biggest steps in the development of a business. The entrepreneur, however, will find there is a great deal of work necessary to see the idea to fruition. Many underlying questions must be answered before the viability of a business idea can be confirmed. A carefully written business plan based on thorough research can answer these questions for you.

If your business idea is not original or does not meet consumer needs, the key will be how the idea can be improved upon or made superior to the competition. The entrepreneur should ask: Why will someone buy from me instead of the competition? What value do I add to the business?

Successful Characteristics

A successful business idea should have most, if not all, of the following characteristics:

1. It should have a relative advantage over existing products or services.
2. The idea must be compatible with existing attitudes and beliefs. It shouldn't require a drastic change in the buyer's behavior.
3. It should not be so complex that the buyer has a difficult time understanding how to use it.
4. The results or benefits of the innovation must be easy to explain to potential users.
5. It is helpful if users can try the innovation without incurring a large risk, such as through samples or trial usage.
6. The innovation must be readily available to purchase by the consumer.
7. The buyer must believe that the innovation satisfies a personal need by giving some immediate benefit.

New Products and Inventions

If your idea is a new product or invention, it should pass the following four tests in order to be successful:

1. Is the idea original? There are a number of ways to determine this. If it is a consumer product, you should check stores, catalogs, trade associations, publications and shows. If it is an invention that can be patented, a patent search can be done.
2. How will the invention be produced and distributed? The extremes range from starting your own company, producing items yourself, working out of your home and selling by mail order, to convincing a big business to buy the idea. Any method presents challenges that must be carefully considered.
3. Will your idea make money? This is a question that is difficult to answer with any certainty. Many factors need to be considered. Is there a market, and where is it? Could the size of the market change suddenly? Will competition drive you out? The preparation of a carefully organized business plan can help shed light on these questions.
4. Can you protect your idea? If you have tentatively satisfied the question of originality, production, distribution and salability, the protection of the idea through patent laws should be considered.

Protecting Your Idea

If applicable to your business, you may want to apply for trademarks, patents and copyrights. Information regarding these applications is listed below.

Trademarks

Trademarks are names or symbols used in any commerce that is subject to regulation by state government or the U.S. Congress.

New and useful inventions can be protected by a U.S. patent. Professional assistance from a patent attorney is strongly urged because patent procedures are detailed and technical. A patent search is performed to see if a patent currently exists on the same or nearly the same device, and if not, to make proper application with the Patent Office.

Note: Only attorneys and agents registered with the U.S. Patent Office may represent inventors in related matters. The office has geographical and alphabetical listings of the more than 11,000 registered agents. Only these agents may perform patent searches in the patent office. Inventors or their attorneys can make arrangements with one of those agents. Information is also available at the Marriott Library at the University of Utah.

U.S. patents are issued by the Assistant Commissioner of Patents, Washington, DC 20231.

Additional information is provided in the publications, General Information Concerning Patents, and other publications distributed through the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office.

Copyrights protect the thoughts and ideas of authors, composers, and artists. A copyright prevents illegal copying of written matter, works of art, or computer programs. In order to ensure copyright protection, the copyright owner should always include notices on all copies of the work. The following elements should be listed:

- The name of the copyright owner
- The words "Copyright protected"
- The year in which the work was first distributed

Copyright registration is available to more fully protect the copyright.

Acquiring a Business

For some people, acquiring a business through purchase or trade may be an excellent alternative to starting a new business from scratch.

As with any business entity, good judgment and competent advice are essential. Just as the term "business" has many meanings, exactly what is being acquired in a business may be understood differently by different people. Caution, prudence and diligence must be practiced in acquiring an existing business or in starting a new one.

Where To Find Businesses To Buy

- Personal friends, acquaintances and contact with other business activities
- Business opportunity advertisements and general business newspapers
- Acquisition wanted advertisements
- Trade associations
- Chambers of Commerce directories
- Government agency publications, directories and yellow pages
- Business brokers and consultants
- Commercial real estate brokers
- Bank trust officers
- Commercial loan officers with banks, savings and loans, and thrifts
- Securities brokers
- Public accounting firms
- Law firms
- Venture capital firms
- Insurance brokers and agents

What Is Being Acquired?

Seek competent financial and legal advice. This does not need to be expensive if information is gathered and questions for advisors are prepared in advance.

- What special assets are included in the acquisition?
- How much "good will" is part of the price?
- If the seller leaves, does the good will evaporate?
- Is there special technical expertise that will go when the seller goes?
- What liabilities will be assumed?

Can a similar business be started for less?

A deal should be made only after careful review. Determine whether a seller is:

1. Serious
2. Willing to discuss the pricing and terms of the sale
3. Willing to have all terms reviewed by your advisor

Signed agreements, properly reviewed, are essential. A competent business consultant can help arrive at proper values.

Caution: When purchasing a business, the purchaser may be liable for debts of the seller or the acquired business. Always seek professional legal advice from an attorney to help avoid serious legal liabilities.

General Information for All Business

Step 2: Prepare a Written Business Plan

Business Planning

The importance of a detailed, written business plan cannot be overemphasized. It is the “road map” by which you make some of your most important business decisions. This map helps you know where you are, where you want to be, and how to get there. Without an adequate business plan, you risk making many vital decisions based on guesswork and mistaken assumptions.

Business planning is the key to successful business ventures and is a constant process. Business planning requires continuous collection of facts and data; it forces you to honestly and objectively analyze the important details of your business activity.

A comprehensive written business plan is one of your most effective tools for a successful business venture.

Your business plan should be sufficiently detailed and prepared. Solid business plans require considerable effort and can't be abbreviated if they are to be of value.

A written plan will help you in the following ways:

- Development - Particularly in start-up situations, the plan can function as a “to do” list. It helps you establish strategic plans, set realistic deadlines, and delegate assignments. It sets deadlines for you.
- Management Planning - The plan forces you to consider the interrelationships of each facet of the business and often becomes the operating bible for the management of your company.
- Communications - Whether it be your banker, supplier or outside consultants, owning and operating a business involves letting key people know what you are doing and what your intentions may be in the future.

- Sales Presentation for Funding - Many business plans are written for the purpose of raising capital. A good plan must be well researched and documented. It will have realistic financial projections and assumptions, which can be substantiated.

Essentials of the Plan

Your business plan should consist of the following five parts.

1. Business Goals and Objectives

- What do you seek to do as a business?
- Why do you seek to engage in this business?
- What do you seek to accomplish in this business in one year, two years, three years, and so on?

2. Business “Playing Field”

- Describe the services or products on which you will base your business.
- Describe who and where your market is.
 - Explain the characteristics of your target market population by age groups, income and education levels.
 - Identify where these target populations are located.
 - Identify swings and shifts in your target market.
- Identify your competition.
 - Name your competition and where they are located.
 - Explain why these businesses are your possible competitors.
- Analyze why customers will come to you instead of your competition.
- Analyze how your competition conducts business, markets to the public, and manages affairs.
- Identify similar businesses in circumstances like yours.
 - Identify why they have succeeded or struggled.

- Identify why your chances of succeeding are better than those that have not.

3. Financial Viability

- Identify all costs and expenses of your business in detail by day, week, month and year. Be certain to include all rental costs, labor costs, tax withholdings, interest on financing, inventory financing costs, advertising expenses and unexpected expenses.
- Schedule your expenses according to payment due dates so you know how much money you must have ready for paying bills by their due dates.
- Identify and document your revenue expectations.
- Identify all your sources of revenue.
 - Identify the times of the day, week, month and year you anticipate revenue.
 - Identify and document the amounts of revenue you anticipate earning, according to the schedule you have identified.
- Identify how you will manage your revenues in deposit banking and “on-hand-cash.”
- Identify how you will manage and invest excess funds.
- Identify your contingency alternatives in the event your revenues fail to meet minimum requirements in a given month or over a 12-month period.
 - Identify how you can adjust your marketing strategies to increase revenues.
 - Identify how you will develop a reserve fund to finance your contingency marketing strategies.

4. Capital Start-Up Needs and Sources

- Based on your identified operating expenses and anticipated revenues, identify how much capital you will need to stay in business while revenues do not cover all of your expenses, and how long you can operate.

- Identify your funding sources:
 - Personal assets and money
 - Assets available for loan collateral
 - Financial resources identified in this booklet

5. Business Plan Document

- Prepare your final document in presentable form for possible review by financial lenders and business assistance experts.
- Maintain your document in a format convenient for continuous review and updating.

Components

A completed plan should demonstrate that you have a full understanding of the following:

- Your company and industry
- Your product or service
- Indicators of success/failure
- Technology you will utilize
- Market analysis
- Competition analysis
- Marketing and sales objectives and strategies
- Risks involved
- Manufacturing (if appropriate)
- Management/Ownership
- Financial data and projections
- Goals for the company

If it will be used as a funding document, it should also include:

- Funding request
- Use of funds
- Terms of repayment

Note: Even if no funding is sought, reviewing your carefully drafted business plan with someone else can help avoid unforeseen problems or weaknesses.

Implement Your Comprehensive Business Plan

Set Up Your Business

Before you open your doors for business, there are many steps you must take to both promote and conduct your business. You will want to open bank accounts at a local bank in which you have confidence. Often you will need to sign a lease to rent space with a reputable property management company or landlord. You may also wish to buy property. Contact your local telephone, electric, natural gas and water utility companies to begin your utility services at your business location. It is a good idea to print letterhead and business cards after all of these details have been addressed and completed. Carefully choose business signs that promote the image of your business and effectively market your product.

Secure a Professional Advisory Team

Successfully operating your business requires meticulous care in record keeping, financial accounting, inventory control, employee management, tax accounting, marketing and sales, and business planning. You should always seek the advice and counsel of professionals who are qualified to assist businesses in these areas.

The following organizations will refer you to qualified professionals for assistance:

Review the Plan Continually

The business plan is often thought of as the road map for your company. It should be reviewed and revised as often as necessary to reflect changes in the market, economy, financial situation and employees. Should problems arise, go back to Step 1 and begin again to correct the problem. This should be done every year to keep current with changes. Be aware of what the competition is doing and make sure you keep pace. Implementation of the business plan allows the manager to test theories of how the company should be run and to calculate possible outcomes. The plan can be checked as those ideas are implemented to determine if the projections were accurate. This provides an early warning system and allows for prompt action to correct problems.

Each time a problem is identified and solved, variables that cause failure are eliminated and the chance of success increases.

Sources of Assistance

For those starting new businesses or who are in business already but need assistance, several excellent organizations and agencies can help in a variety of ways. Table 1 represents the services provided by organizations. For example, Table 1 shows that the Utah Small Business Development Center provides assistance in the areas of information, counseling, networking and training.

The following section includes brief descriptions of the activities of assistance organizations, as well as their addresses, telephone numbers and Internet addresses. Other important sources for information are the local chapters of national trade and professional associations.

One-Stop Service Centers

One-stop service centers offer the public a coordinated location to complete several different business issues. The centers offer a variety of services and provide information, brochures and forms at locations throughout Utah.

The Department of Commerce and the Utah State Tax Commission

Business owners may register their business names and apply for tax accounts at any of the one-stop service centers. Businesses may file articles of incorporation and organization. The centers also provide IRS "SS-4" application forms for federal employer identification numbers (EIN). The Tax Commission One-Stop Service Centers may accept application forms and may issue federal EINs for most business entities.

Going Out of Business

Dissolving or Terminating a Business

A corporation or other business entity may cease operations for many reasons and in a number of ways. When a business is terminated or its legal status changes, there are licensing and regulation requirements that must be met. There are also opportunities for improving the economic prospects at termination for owners and creditors through legal provisions of state and federal laws.

Essentially, following the same process of contact with all registration, taxing and licensing agencies (simply retracing the steps taken during start-up) will guide one through necessary termination procedures. Table 2 outlines some basic requirements.

Bankruptcy

Bankruptcy is a very complicated process and should be conducted only under the careful supervision of competent legal council. There are too many details to adequately discuss in this book.

Corporate Dissolution	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Must file form 966 within 30 days after the adoption of a resolution or plan to dissolve. Form 1099-DIV should also be filed reporting liquidated distributions to shareholders.

Step 3: Identify Ways to Finance Your Business

Sources of Capital

New businesses must be capitalized carefully. Entrepreneurs must identify their start-up capital needs and cash-flow requirements. The total of the two, plus a reserve, will determine the total amount needed to open a new business. Never underestimate the amount of money it takes to get started.

There are two forms of capital – debt and equity:

1. Borrowed capital is debt that must be repaid. The terms vary depending on what is agreed upon by the parties. Interest costs are important to consider in the calculated formula for success.
2. Equity is the money value of a property or of an interest in a property in excess of claims or liens against it. It also denotes a risk interest or ownership right in that property. Being a sole owner affords an element of control over the conduct of the business.

More detail regarding financing can be obtained by checking into the following capital sources.

Commercial Bank Loans

Getting a loan is a matter of credit worthiness and a bit of salesmanship; the better prepared you are, the more likely you will be successful. Lenders may know little about your specific business, so your job is to educate them. This educational process begins by submitting a loan proposal containing specific information.

Loan Request

- Purpose of the loan
- Loan amount required
- Terms desired
- Source of repayment
- Collateral available
- Loan money usage

History and Nature of the Business

- Brief and concise description of the business

Management

- Skills you bring to the company
- Age, experience, and education of the management team
- Organization chart or management structure
- Other key advisors

General Information

- Product or industry trends
- Marketing area and method of distribution or marketing
- Major customers
- Suppliers
- Competition
- Facilities
- Employees and unions

Financial Information

If this is a new business, the lender will request personal or former business venture information.

- Three-year spreadsheets of balance sheets, income statements, and cash flow
- Three-year financial statements and tax returns
- Ratio analysis with appropriate comments
- Personal financial statement (dated within 90 days of loan request)
- Pro forma income statement for at least one year
- Cash budget for at least one year

Many lenders evaluate loan requests against the “Five Cs of Credit”:

Character – by far the most important. If you are not someone to be trusted, the lender doesn’t want to deal with you, no matter how good the deal.

Capacity – what is your financial strength and track record?

Capital – how much of your own money have you invested?

Collateral – what is available to support the primary source of repayment?

Conditions – what is the economy doing, and how will it affect your company?

Revolving Loan Funds

In an effort to create jobs and improve the business climate of a community, some cities, counties, and Associations of Governments (geographical regions) will lend money to small businesses located in their areas. The amount available to a business ranges from a few thousand dollars to over $100,000. Typically, the money is used for plant and equipment, working capital, inventory or accounts receivable financing. Rates are usually less than or equal to conventional lender financing, and the term for repayment may be either short (6 months) or extended (many years). This type of financing is often used in conjunction with other lender financing since most revolving loan programs will accept a second or third position on financed assets. For information, contact your local county or Association of Governments office.

Venture Capital Funds

A venture capital fund is used for very narrow or niche equity financing. It is professionally managed money that seeks to make a high rate of return for its investors by taking high risks in investing in early-stage businesses. These businesses must demonstrate the possibility of extremely rapid growth (i.e. $50 million a year in sales after 5-7 years). Venture capital is equity money (money for stock) that is repaid by capital gains through the sale of stock. Venture capital investors are typically short- to intermediate-term investors (1-7 years) who generally invest over $1 million in a company.

Rural lenders utilize the Guaranteed Business and Industry (B&I) loan program to guarantee loans to quality businesses that support a diversified economic base to rural communities and provide or save good quality jobs in rural areas. RBS will not guarantee marginal or substandard loans.

The B&I loan program allows lenders to make larger sized loans to sound rural businesses with longer loan terms and lower interest rates than would otherwise be available.

Businesses financed with a Guaranteed B&I loan must be located in a rural area. Rural areas for the B&I program are defined as communities with a population of less than 50,000 (2000 census), and are not located contiguous or adjacent to communities of 50,000 or more population (2000 census).

The Rural Business-Cooperative Service (RBS) can guarantee up to 80 percent on loans to $5,000,000. RBS can consider decreased guarantees on loans up to $25,000,000. The percentage of guarantee will decrease to a maximum of 70 percent on loans between $5,000,000-$10,000,000, and a maximum of 60 percent on loans between $10,000,000-$25,000,000.

Loans must be fully secured. The discounted collateral value of all security must be sufficient to fully secure the loan request. Businesses assisted with a guaranteed B&I loan must generate sufficient revenues to service all business debts.

Established businesses must have a minimum 10 percent tangible net worth to be considered for Guaranteed B&I assistance. New businesses or startup operations must have a minimum 20 percent tangible net worth to be considered for B&I assistance.

Federally Guaranteed Loans

In Utah, the SBA offers a variety of special loan programs to eligible small businesses that cannot borrow on reasonable terms from conventional lenders. The most appropriate loan program will vary with the amount of financing needed and the uses of loan proceeds.

In most cases, the SBA's business loans are made by private lenders and guaranteed by the SBA. The maximum loan guarantee amount is $1,000,000. SBA loan programs include 7(a) Guaranty Loan, LowDoc Loans, Express, Fastrak, CapLines, 7(m) Micro Loans, 504 Certified Development Company, and Women's and Minority Pre-qualification Loan Program. The SBA encourages potential borrowers to utilize its business development programs, such as SCORE, the Small Business Development Center, and the Business Information Center, to help them prepare business plans and loan applications.

Certified Development Companies

Certified Development Companies (CDCs) are private companies licensed by the U.S. Small Business Administration to provide long-term financing to expanding businesses. The SBA 504 Program loans provide long-term fixed-asset financing, with a maximum SBA share of $750,000 or 40 percent of project cost. At least 10 percent must be provided by the borrower, and the remainder of project cost is provided by a private lender. Utah's Certified Development Companies include the following:

Public Offering of Securities

The raising of capital through the offer and sale of securities is carefully regulated by both state and federal agencies to protect the public. The legal definition of a security includes, but is not limited to: common and preferred stocks, notes, bonds, debentures, investment contracts, voting-trust certificates, certificates of deposit, warrants, options, subscription rights, and undivided oil and gas interests. Some interests in limited liability companies and royalty interests have also been determined to be securities.

The Utah Uniform Securities Act makes it unlawful for any person to offer or sell any security in the state of Utah unless the security is registered or is exempted from registration. The purpose of registration is to provide adequate information to the investing public by requiring the registrant to give complete business and financial disclosures as a part of their registration statement. For information concerning state securities registration and exemptions from registration, contact the Department of Commerce.

Individuals offering or selling securities in Utah must be licensed in the state of Utah. These licensing requirements are found in the Utah Uniform Securities Act, section 61-1-3, and in Division Rule R164-4-1.

Raising capital through the public markets can be successful. Due to legal complexities, you should consult an attorney with securities expertise before making any decisions. Investment banking or brokerage firms can provide good information, and can consult with you concerning the methods of raising capital from the public.

Others

There are other options you can use to raise capital:

- Funds internally generated from company sales
- Private investments or loans by interested parties (the leading source of non-personal monies)
- Sale or exchange of company assets
- Trade credit extended by suppliers (risky)
- Personal assets
 - Savings
 - Home equity (mortgage)
 - Life insurance cash value
 - Personal stocks

Step 4: Select Your Business Structure

Business Structure Options

Business activity may be conducted through a variety of organizational structures. An attorney, accountant, financial advisor, tax advisor or banker can suggest which form would be most suitable.

One of the primary considerations in selecting a business organization is protection of a business owner from liability. Other considerations are the transferability of ownership rights, the ability to continue as a business in the event of the death or withdrawal of one or more of the owners, the capital needs of the business, and tax liabilities.

Note: Legal requirements are determined by the selected business structure. The laws are very specific on the regulations required as you set up your business structure. The Division of Corporations and Commercial Code has literature that can help determine the best structure for you. Ultimately, however, legal counsel or the assistance of a professional accountant may be needed.

The most common business structures are as follows.

Sole Proprietorship

The single owner of the business is a sole proprietor. The single owner has sole control and responsibility. The sole proprietorship is easily formed, allows important decisions to be made quickly, and may enjoy fewer legal restrictions.

The sole proprietor's responsibilities include:

- Procuring all capital
- Personal liability for all claims against the business
- Showing business profits as part of the owner's individual taxable income
- Obtaining local business licenses
- Registering the name of the business with the Utah Division of Corporations and Commercial Code in the Department of Commerce

General Partnership

A partnership is an association of two or more people acting as co-owners of a business for profit. A partnership can be created by an oral or written contract between the individuals. It is wise to have an attorney draw up a partnership agreement specifying rights and obligations of the partners. Almost any management and profit sharing agreement can be arranged.

A general partnership:

- Requires no official registration beyond that required for a sole proprietorship
- Extends liability to the personal assets of the business partners
- Is required to file information returns with the Internal Revenue Service and Utah State Tax Commission
- Shares its profits and losses among the partners. Each partner is then taxed at personal income tax rates

Limited Partnership

Limited partnerships are more closely regulated than general partnerships, permitting investors to become silent or limited partners without assuming unlimited liability. There must be at least one general partner who manages the business, and one or more limited partners whose liability is limited to the extent of their investment.

In a limited partnership:

- General partners share full liability
- Limited partners may take no part in running the business
- The limited partnership is created by filing documents with the Utah Division of Corporations and Commercial Code

Business Corporation

A corporation is a more complex form of business organization. A corporation is a legal entity and exists apart from its owners or shareholders. As a separate entity, it has its own rights, privileges and liabilities apart from the individuals.

A corporation:

- Must file its Articles of Incorporation with the Utah Division of Corporations and Commercial Code
- May be formed for profit or for nonprofit purposes
 - It has limited liability.
 - The liability of shareholders (or owners) to creditors is ordinarily limited to the amount of each shareholder's capital stock investment.
- Is unaffected in its continuity by death or transfer of shares by any of the owners
- Requires more extensive record keeping
- Pays taxes on its profits; taxes on dividends are paid by its shareholders

S Corporation

The S Corporation combines parts of the corporate and partnership forms of business organization. The Internal Revenue Code permits a privately held corporation, one with up to 35 shareholders, to avoid corporate taxation by having each shareholder report the share of corporate income on his or her individual income tax return.

The S Corporation generally does not pay tax itself. However, two situations may result in tax to the corporation:

1. Excess net passive income
2. Tax on certain capital gains

In addition, the S Corporation:

- Remains a corporation in the view of the state and complies with state corporation regulations
- Must have only one class of stock
- Uses a calendar tax year or shows a business purpose for adopting a fiscal year
- Must have the consent of all shareholders to have S Corporation status
- Must be made up of shareholders that are individuals, estates, or trusts, but not corporations

- Can only have shareholders that are United States citizens or residents
- Cannot be a member of an affiliated group of corporations
 - Most financial institutions, insurance companies and domestic international sales corporations are also ineligible.
 - See IRS regulations for more information.
- Taxes nonresident shareholders using the maximum Utah individual income tax rate
- Prohibits certain types of income and business activities

Professional Corporation

In Utah, people licensed in certain professions may form a professional corporation that provides them with the benefits of the corporate form for the business aspects of their practices, while preserving the personal relationship between the professionals and those they serve.

A professional corporation may only be organized for the purpose of furnishing one specific professional service and the ancillary services associated with that profession.

Unlike traditional business corporations, no individual may be an officer, director or shareholder of a professional corporation unless that individual is licensed to perform the same profession as that for which the professional corporation was formed. However, an unlicensed person or nonprofessional may serve as either the secretary or treasurer of the professional corporation.

Another distinctive feature of the professional corporation is that shares of the corporate stock may only be issued to persons who are licensed to render the specific professional service. Likewise, a shareholder may voluntarily transfer his or her shares in a professional corporation only to those persons who are duly licensed to render the same professional service as that for which the corporation was organized.

Articles of Incorporation for a professional corporation must be filed with the Utah Division of Corporations.

Nonprofit Corporation

A nonprofit corporation is created to help people achieve a common purpose. It is an organizing structure useful to small and large-scale activities, involving only a few people or many hundreds of people. It provides a useful and inexpensive structure for the enterprise of groups of all sizes, from community campaigns or events to perpetual and diverse activities by hundreds and thousands of people.

A nonprofit corporation may be formed in Utah for any lawful purpose, but not for financial profit. It does not require large sums of money and it can be prepared initially by following a few simple rules:

- It may not have shareholders or pay dividends
- It may compensate members, officers, and trustees (in reasonable amounts) for services rendered

Special Note: Nonprofit incorporation status does not guarantee that your organization will be granted tax-exempt status, nor does it ensure that your contributors can deduct their gifts from reported personal income. Nonprofit incorporation is generally a prerequisite to applying to the Internal Revenue Service for preferential tax status, under IRS Code section 501(c)(3). To apply for exempt status contact the IRS for the necessary application forms.

Limited Liability Company

The Limited Liability Company (LLC) combines many favorable characteristics of corporations and limited and general partnerships. The LLC provides limited liability to its members and offers them the same favorable IRS tax treatment enjoyed by partners in general and limited partnerships.

A Limited Liability Company:

- Must file Articles of Organization with the Utah Division of Corporations and Commercial Code
- Allows members to manage the company themselves or to elect managers
- Allows members to engage in management without risk of losing their limited liability status
- Follows simple registration and annual reporting requirements similar to those of corporations and limited partnerships
- May be taxed by the IRS as either a corporation, partnership or sole proprietorship, depending on its structure

Step 5: Local Government Requirements

General Information

This step provides registration, licensing, and special permit information for doing business in Utah from several different agencies. Due to the variety of business structures and natures, this booklet contains information on various local, state, and federal guidelines. No one business will need to follow all the requirements.

Please review the material carefully so you can assess and identify which local, state, and federal requirements are necessary for your business.

Local Business Licenses

All businesses must obtain a business license from the local city or county in which the business is being conducted. Because most local governments have requirements that must be met prior to establishing a business within their jurisdictions, new business owners are advised to obtain a federal Employer Identification Number (EIN) and a state Sales and Use Tax License, if applicable, before applying for a business license.

The application for a city or county business license will usually require approvals from one or more of the following departments:

- Planning and Zoning
- Building and Housing
- Health
- Police or Sheriff
- Fire

Zoning is regulated at the local level. Before purchasing or renting any type of building for commercial use, check with the local municipality to ensure your type of business is permitted to operate at the chosen site.

You should personally visit your city or county business licensing office. If you have more than one business location, check with each appropriate city or county office. They will help you with the application forms and may even save you money where fees are prorated for the year.

A directory of city and county license information is available at the Utah Department of Commerce, Division of Corporations and Commercial Code. Phone: (801) 530-4849.

Local Tax Registration

Local governments are authorized to levy local sales and use taxes that the Utah State Tax Commission administers, operates and enforces. In most instances, all local sales, use and related taxes are collected and remitted to the Utah State Tax Commission with the applicable state tax. To apply for a sales and use tax license, complete the Utah State Business and Tax Registration application (Form TC-69) available at one-stop service centers throughout the state, or online at www.tax.utah.gov/forms/.

There may be instances where businesses will be required to pay taxes directly to their local government. Grand County has elected to collect the three percent transient room tax required in their jurisdiction. Contact your local city or county government to determine what taxes, if any, are due in your jurisdiction.

Home-Based Businesses

Regulation of home-based businesses rests with the local government in which the residence is located. Permits must be obtained and conditional user fees paid to that particular city or county. Criteria may vary for each locality. Some general guidelines for a home business follow.

- The occupation is carried on entirely by persons residing in the dwelling unit.
- No signs, advertisements or displays should be visible from the street.
- The occupation is secondary to the primary use of the structure for dwelling purposes and does not change the character of the home.

Step 5: Local Government Requirements

- The occupation should not be a nuisance or cause undue disturbance.
- Occupations requiring special rooms, licenses or permits may not be granted a permit.
- Neighbors may need to sign affidavits acknowledging notice of the proposed business.

- The occupation must conform to local fire, safety and health codes.
- The occupation should cause no objectionable traffic or parking problems.

Contact the city or town in which the residence is located. For unincorporated areas, contact appropriate county offices or Chambers of Commerce.

Step 6: State Government Requirements

Sales and Use Tax

Sales tax is a tax on the rental or retail sale of tangible personal property, admission and user fees, and certain services provided. It is collected from the consumer by the retailer and paid to the Tax Commission on monthly, quarterly or annual returns. Sales tax returns are due on the last day of the month following each reporting period. If a due date falls on a weekend or legal holiday, the due date becomes the next business day.

Use tax is a tax on amounts paid or charged for purchases of tangible personal property and certain services where sales tax was due but not charged. The purchaser remits use tax directly to the Tax Commission. Examples of use tax include withdrawals from inventory and goods consumed.

Use tax must be accrued and paid on certain purchases from unregistered out-of-Utah sellers. Some of the more common items for use tax reporting include advertising supplies, special office or shop equipment, computer hardware and software, and office supplies.

Sales and use taxes are “transaction taxes”. This means the tax is not on the articles sold or furnished, but on the transaction, and the purchaser is the actual taxpayer. The seller is charged with collecting the tax from the purchaser and paying the tax to Utah. In cases where the seller does not charge the tax, it becomes use tax and the purchaser is responsible to report and remit the tax.

Once a nexus business has registered with the Tax Commission for the collection of sales and use tax, a return must be filed whether or not sales or use tax is due. Penalties and interest apply to late returns, underpayments and late payments. Employers withholding less than $1,000 per month are required to file on a quarterly basis and returns are due on or before the last day of the month after the end of a calendar quarter. For example, the January-March quarter is due the last day of April.

Filing Returns

Businesses obtaining accounts with the Tax Commission must file their tax returns by the due date even if no tax is due. Penalties and interest apply to late returns and insufficient payments. If you change ownership, location, or add outlets or additional stores, you must notify the Tax Commission in writing. Every license and account holder, who discontinues business, is required to notify the Tax Commission immediately. Tax licenses or accounts are not transferable to new owners.

Tax Record-keeping

Every seller is required to keep adequate and complete records as are necessary to determine the amount of tax for which they are liable.

Records should be preserved for a period of three years from the date the taxes are due or paid. Records shall be open for examination at any time and without notice by the Tax Commission or its authorized agents. Failure to keep adequate records necessary to establish tax liability may result in the taxpayer's license being revoked.

Sales and Use Tax Records

Sales tax records must include:

- All sales and purchases of tangible personal property and services that are subject to the sales and use tax
- All receipts from rentals or leases of tangible personal property
- All deductions and exemptions allowed by law and claimed in filing sales tax returns
- Other books and records as the taxpayer's business may require to show completely and adequately the liability of the taxpayer

Tax Liabilities

Successor Liability

If you are purchasing a business, Utah law requires you to withhold enough of the purchase money to cover any sales and use, withholding and certain fuel taxes due and unpaid until the former owner of the business produces a receipt from the Tax Commission showing the taxes have been paid or a certificate showing that no taxes are due. If you fail to withhold the required purchase money and the taxes remain due and unpaid 30 days after the business is sold, you will be personally liable for payment of the taxes collected and unpaid by the former owner.

Personal Liability

Individuals who control the finances of a corporation, LLC, LLP, partnership, or other entity may be held personally liable for that entity's failure to collect or remit certain trust fund taxes. Trust fund taxes are monies that the entity is required to collect or withhold on behalf of the State of Utah. The following taxes are trust fund taxes:

- Withholding tax
- State and local sales and use tax
- Transient room tax
- Tourism tax
- Municipal energy sales and use tax
- Certain fuel taxes

If an entity required to collect trust fund taxes fails to collect or remit those taxes, the Tax Commission may assess a penalty equal to 100 percent of the unpaid trust fund taxes on any responsible individual within the entity.

The State Unemployment Insurance Program, covered under the Utah Employment Security Act, is administered by the Utah Department of Workforce Services. The program provides for the collection of monies from employers for the payment of benefits to workers who are unemployed through no fault of their own. These benefits are paid to lighten the burden of unemployment for individuals and to maintain their purchasing power in the community. More information is provided in The Employer Handbook and Facts About Unemployment Insurance in Utah, free publications provided by Workforce Services.

Status of a Business

An employer must first file a Status Report (Form 1) with the Department of Workforce Services Unemployment Insurance Division. This report registers the business with the Department, which then determines if the employer is subject to the Utah Employment Security Act. The Status Report should be submitted at the time a business starts paying wages. Registration can be done through the mail, by telephone, fax or the Internet website: <http://jobs.utah.gov/ui>.

Form: Department of Workforce Services
Form 1 - Status Report

Deadline: Filed within 10 days after paying wages.

Unemployment Insurance Program

Any individual or business entity that pays wages becomes subject to the Utah Employment Security Act for the quarter in which the wages are paid, and must file quarterly contribution reports and make quarterly payments. An employer must report all wages, regardless of the amount.

For purposes of this program, wages include payments made in cash, or any other medium, such as merchandise, gratuities or exchange of service. Wages for persons working under any oral or written contract of hire must be reported unless they are determined to be bona fide independent contractors.

Filing Quarterly Reports

An employer who is subject to Unemployment Insurance coverage must file quarterly tax and wage reports. The required quarterly reports and payments may be submitted through the mail, in person, or Workforce Service's website:

<http://jobs.utah.gov/ui>

Employer's Quarterly Contribution Reports (Forms 3) are mailed to employers near the end of each calendar quarter and provide all the information necessary for an employer to report total and taxable gross wages paid and make the required quarterly contribution. Employers must also file the Employer's Wage List (Form 3H), which includes the name, social security number and gross earnings of each employee during the quarter. Penalties are assessed for failure to file and pay when due.

Form: Department of Workforce Services
Form 3 – Employer's Contribution Report

Note: For further information regarding the Utah Employment Security Act, contact the Department of Workforce Services at (801) 526-9400 or 1-800-222-2857, or visit their website at <http://jobs.utah.gov/ui>.

Unemployment Contribution Rate

The Department of Workforce Services determines the unemployment contribution rates by using a formula that compares unemployment benefits paid to former workers of the business (benefit costs) with taxable wages paid by the business during one to four fiscal years. Fiscal years for this purpose run from July 1 to June 30. An employer's benefit costs for one to four fiscal years are divided by taxable wages reported for the same period to determine the basic contribution rate. If the business is acquired from another operator, the benefit costs and taxable wages of both the current and previous owner will be combined in this calculation.

The basic rate is adjusted by a reserve factor to provide for an adequate reserve balance. In addition, all employers pay a social tax, which represents benefit costs not assigned to a specific employer. The basic rate, adjusted by the reserve factor, plus the social tax, determines an employer's overall contribution rate. Rates are assigned each calendar year.

If an employer does not have at least one fiscal year of payroll experience, he is considered to be a new employer. New employers are assigned a basic rate equal to the average rate for all employers in the industry that is most similar to the new employer's business activity. The employer's business activity is determined from information provided by the employer on the Status Report.

Independent Contractors

When you have someone work in your business, you must determine whether that person is your employee or an independent contractor. There are several criteria used in determining independent contractor/employee status.

Independent contractors are may be deemed by the Department to be employees for unemployment insurance purposes. Some employers, in an effort to reduce personnel costs, have designated certain workers as "independent contractors" in violation of Utah law. Simply calling a worker an independent contractor is not sufficient. There are several factors considered when determining whether an employer-independent contractor, or an employer-employee relationship exists.

Factors that indicate an employer-employee relationship include the following (this is not an all-inclusive list).

An employer:

- Has the right to control direct the employee
- Provides the tools or expensive equipment and the place to work
- Sets the hours of work and provide training
- Pays for business or travel expenses

An employee:

- Must personally perform the services
- Provides a continuous service relationship with the employer
- Receives hourly, weekly or monthly, pay for services

Factors that indicate an employer-independent contractor relationship include the following.

An independent contractor:

- Can make a profit or suffer a loss
- Has own place of business separate from that of employer
- Performs similar work for more than one person or firm at the same time
- Advertises his services to the general public
- Pays all expenses and owns or provides all equipment
- Has the required and customary business, trade, or professional licenses
- Can hire his own assistants

Employers and employees not covered by federal standards are covered by state standards. If they are covered by both a federal and a state standard on the same question, the stricter standard will apply. The Utah Payment of Wages Act and accompanying rules apply to all private sector employers. Some key standards are as follows:

Hours Employed

Contact:

Utah Labor Commission
Antidiscrimination and Labor Division

Hours employed includes all time during which an employee is required to be working, to be on the employer's premises ready to work, to be on duty, to be at a prescribed work place, to attend a meeting or training, and for time utilized during established rest or break periods, excluding meal periods of 30 minutes or more when the employee is relieved of all responsibilities.

Terminating Employees

When an employer separates an employee from his payroll by discharge or by layoff, the unpaid wages of such employee are due immediately and must be paid within 24 hours of separation.

Resignation by Employee

If an employee resigns employment, the unpaid wages of the employee become due and payable on the next regular payday.

Regular Paydays

- The employer must establish a minimum of two pay periods per month at regular intervals, on regular paydays designed in advance.
- Wages are to be paid within 10 days after the end of the pay period on regular paydays.
- The employer must notify the employee as to the paydays and the rate of pay the employee will be receiving.
- The employer must furnish the employee with a statement each payday showing the total amount of each deduction from the employee's wages.

Payroll Electronic Transfer

An employer may require that its employees be paid by electronic transfer if:

1. The employer's previous year's federal employment tax deposits were at least $250,000, and
2. At least two-thirds of the employees have their wages electronically transferred.

However, the employee chooses, and the employer cannot designate a particular depository institution for the exclusive payment or deposit of a check for wages.

Uniforms

Where the wearing of uniforms is a condition of employment, the employer must furnish the uniforms free of charge.

The term "uniform" includes any article of clothing, footwear, or accessory of a distinctive design or color required by an employer to be worn by employees.

Any article of clothing which is associated with a specific employer by virtue of an emblem (logo) or distinct color scheme shall be considered a uniform.

The employer may, at his or her option, request an amount, not to exceed the actual cost of the uniform or twenty dollars, whichever is less, as a deposit on each uniform required by the employer. The deposit must be refunded to the employee at the time the uniform is returned.

Minimum Wage/Child Labor

 - A minor employee may be paid $4.25 an hour for the first 90 days of employment with an employer.

No youth under the age of 16 shall be permitted to work in excess of four hours in one school day, nor before 5:00 a.m. or after 9:30 p.m. unless the next day is not a school day, nor in excess of 8 hours in any 24-hour period. Youth 14 and 15 years of age can work in nonhazardous occupations such as retail stores, restaurants, fast food, service stations, lawn care, janitorial and other occupations not determined harmful by the Labor Commission. There are 17 hazardous occupations that youth under the age of 18 cannot perform. A complete list can be obtained from UALD at the Utah Labor Commission.

If an enterprise or individual employee is subject to the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA), the child labor provisions are different and generally more restrictive than state law.

Private Employment Agencies

Utah law requires employment agencies to be licensed by the Antidiscrimination and Labor Division. This license must be obtained before a business license is issued and must be renewed each calendar year. There is no fee for this license. A license application form and specific licensing requirements may be obtained from UALD.

Antidiscrimination

UALD is charged with receiving, investigating and determining complaints of discrimination in both employment and housing. This is accomplished through complaint processing, mediation, investigation, and community outreach and education.

Employment Discrimination

The Utah Antidiscrimination Act applies to all employers with at least 15 or more employees. An Individual must file a complaint within 180 days from the last date of harm for UALD to have jurisdiction to investigate the complaint.

It is a discriminatory or prohibited employment practice to refuse to hire, promote, discharge, demote, terminate, or to retaliate against or to discriminate in matters of compensation or in terms, privileges, and conditions of employment against any persons otherwise qualified, because of race, color, sex, pregnancy or pregnancy-related conditions, age (40 and over), religion, national origin, or disability.

Housing Discrimination

Under the Fair Housing Act, it is a prohibited housing practice to discriminate in the rental, sale and financing of residential housing against any person who is otherwise qualified, because of that individual's race, color, sex, national origin, disability, religion, familial status, disability, or source of income (being a recipient of government assistance).

Any person desiring information or assistance may call UALD at the Utah Labor Commission.

UOSH

Utah has a federally approved occupational safety and health plan. The plan is managed by the Utah Occupational Safety and Health Division (UOSH). UOSH preserves human resources by providing safety and health assistance through consultation, training, and education for employees and employers, and by establishing and enforcing occupational safety and health standards. The Utah Occupational Safety and Health Act is found in Chapter 6, Title 34A, Utah Code Annotated.

Employers

Employers covered under the UOSH Act include all private employers with one or more workers, and all state and local government agencies including school districts and special service units. UOSH does not cover mine operations, railroads or federal employers.

Each employer must furnish employees a place of employment free from recognized hazards that do cause or are likely to cause death or physical harm to employees. Employers must comply with the Act and with UOSH standards or rules. Employers must investigate all worker injuries or occupational diseases; and, within eight hours of occurrence of any fatality or significant injury, must give notice to UOSH.

If the injury or occupational disease results in medical treatment, loss of consciousness, loss of work, restriction of work or transfer to another job, an "Employer's First Report of Injury or Occupational Disease" must be submitted to the Labor Commission within seven days. First aid cases need not be submitted unless a physician is required to file a report. Employees must be given a copy of this report.

All information on injuries and occupational diseases submitted to the Labor Commission by employers may also need to be recorded on the employers "Occupational Injury and Illness Log," Form 300. For questions concerning recordability, contact UOSH Statistics at (801) 530-6823.

Employers or a representative may accompany UOSH safety and health officers during an inspection.

Employers may request free workplace safety and health consultation services. This service will not result in a compliance inspection nor penalties. For more information, call (801)530-6855 for private sector employers or (801) 530-6860 for public sector employers.

Employees

Employees or their representatives may file a complaint with UOSH if it is believed a violation of the Act or UOSH standards exists. Complaints may be written on forms provided by UOSH, in letter form, or submitted electronically via the UOSH web page.

Employees or their representatives have the right to accompany a UOSH safety and health officer during an inspection, to observe all monitoring of conditions, and to confer privately with UOSH during any part of an inspection.

Pressure vessels must be inspected every four years. If the boiler pressure vessel is insured, insurance inspectors deputized by the Safety Division inspect and report to the Labor Commission. If the owner of the boiler or pressure vessel elects to not insure a boiler to which Utah's boiler and pressure vessel law applies, the Safety Division of the Labor Commission will do the inspection. Fees for the certificates to operate range from $30 to $450. The Safety Division publishes a Utah Boiler and Pressure Vessel Compliance Manual as an aid to compliance. For information regarding boiler or pressure vessel safety, contact the Safety Division.

Workers' Compensation Insurance

Most employers, including all subcontractors who are sole proprietors and partners, are required to have workers' compensation insurance. An employer is defined under the Workers' Compensation Act as one who employs one or more workers or operatives regularly in the same business. Other criteria include being in or related to the same establishment, under any contract of hire, express or implied, oral or written, including aliens and minors. It does not include persons whose employment is casual and not in the usual course of trade, business or occupation of the employer.

By covering employees under the Workers' Compensation Act, the employer generally is ensured immunity from lawsuits due to any job-related injury or illness. The employee is paid a certain percentage of his or her wage while unable to work, subject to a maximum, and an additional benefit for any permanent partial impairment sustained due to the industrial injury. All medical bills are paid in full as long as they are related to the industrial accident. In addition, benefits are paid to the dependents of deceased workers, as well as some burial expenses.

The Industrial Accidents Division, a division of the Utah Labor Commission, will fine a minimum of $1,000, or up to three times the amount of the premium (with premium defined as 150 percent of the average weekly wage times the highest number of employees) of any non-complying employer for violations of the mandatory insurance provisions of the Utah Code. The Division will also take legal action to close a place of business that does not provide workers' compensation coverage for its employees.

Ways to Obtain Coverage

Information regarding workers' compensation insurance may be obtained by contacting the Utah Labor Commission at (801) 530-6800. Generally, employers may:

- Purchase coverage from the Workers' Compensation Fund (also the insurer of last resort)
- Purchase coverage from any private insurance company authorized to write workers' compensation insurance in Utah (an insurance broker can be of assistance)
- Apply to the Labor Commission for permission to self-insure
 - This privilege is granted only to large employers with firm financial status and well-documented loss records, such as public utilities, government entities, and national corporations.

Who Should Be Covered

Every employer, including subcontractors who are sole proprietors and partners, with the exception of some agriculture and domestic employers, must provide workers' compensation insurance for employees. The following employers are not required to provide workers' compensation insurance coverage. Coverage is, however, available to any of these who choose to acquire it.

- Agricultural employers who meet either of the following conditions:
 - Their employees are all members of the immediate family of the employer and who have a proprietary interest in the farm, provided the inclusion of any immediate family member under the provisions of this title is at the option of the employer.
 - Their annual payroll is less than $8,000.
- Employers who do not employ one or more domestic employees for at least forty hours per week
- Employers of casual employees
 - For example, coverage is not required for a home owner to employ someone to clean out the rain gutters on his private residence.

- However, the owner of an apartment house doing maintenance as part of his business, must obtain coverage for a worker hired to clean out rain gutters on his apartment house unless he obtained the services of an independent contractor.

Under the Workers' Compensation Act, real estate agents or real estate brokers are not considered employees, workmen or operatives if the following three conditions apply:

1. Substantially all of the real estate agent's or associated broker's income for services is from real estate commissions.
2. The services of the real estate agent or associated broker are performed under a written contract specifying that the real estate agent is an independent contractor.
3. The contract states that the real estate agent or associated broker is not to be treated as an employee for federal income tax purposes.

The statutory employer law changed on May 1, 1995, making a general contractor liable for subcontractors who do not have workers' compensation coverage.

All employers who use the services of true independent contractors should obtain proof of workers' compensation insurance and liability insurance coverage from the independent contractors. Also, a formal, written contract should be maintained, which clearly outlines the nature of the contractor/independent contractor relationship.

The courts look for a preponderance of evidence when reviewing the above factors. Insurance company auditors can review employers' records to determine if a true contractor/independent contractor relationship exists and retroactively bill for all undeclared employees. If the employer has any questions, he or she should obtain legal advice.

Utah has an ideal business climate: wide open spaces, a highly educated populace and a fine quality of life enhanced by the state's beautiful mountain ranges, red rock canyons and desert terrain. The Utah Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) is committed to managing growth and economic development in a manner which does not sacrifice public health or environmental quality. Working in partnership with business, the public and other agencies, DEQ is protecting Utah's environment for the enjoyment of current and future generations.

New or expanding companies may need to obtain various environmental approvals and permits before construction begins. Permits are required for activities that could adversely affect the environment. A business will probably be regulated if it:

- Releases pollutants to the air, water or land
- Stores, treats or disposes of hazardous or solid waste

The process of obtaining environmental permits is not overwhelming. DEQ provides the information needed through the Planning and Public Affairs Office. A telephone call will start the necessary permitting process. DEQ can arrange a pre-design conference that will explain what permits are needed and how to get them.

Businesses considering establishing or expanding facilities in Utah may use the Utah

Department of Environmental Quality's pre-design program to obtain environmental permits quickly and efficiently. Business owners should begin by calling the Office of Planning and Public Affairs and briefly explaining the business production process. DEQ will then arrange a meeting with division representatives to introduce the permitting process, explain which permits are required and detail pollution-prevention techniques.

Please allow at least two weeks' notice so DEQ can have appropriate staff available to meet with you.

Processing time for approvals and permits usually takes between 21 and 180 days, depending upon the permit or approval required. Complex and large-scale projects may require additional review time. Submitting complete and accurate information in the beginning reduces delays during review.

An environmental permit brochure that details requirements for various permits is also available through the Office of Planning and Public Affairs, or online at www.deq.utah.gov/offices/ppa/business/index.htm

Employee Verification

Since the passage of the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986 (IRCA), employers must verify the employment eligibility of new employees.

The U.S. Department of Justice, Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) requires employers to keep a completed federal I-9 form, Employment Eligibility Verification, for each employee (including U.S. citizens) hired after November 6, 1986. The I-9 form must be completed within three days from the date of hire. If an employee is hired for less than three days, the I-9 form must be completed at the time of hire.

Form I-9 and the instructions page must be made available to both the employer and the employee during the completion of the form. Employers may photocopy or reproduce the forms themselves, provided both sides are visible. An employer may obtain a limited number of copies from the INS office servicing their location, or they may be ordered in bulk from the following address:

Superintendent of Documents
U.S. Government Printing Office
Washington, DC 20402

If you have questions or need additional information, you must contact the INS office servicing Utah. Direct your letter to the attention of the Employer and Labor Relations Officer.

IRS on the Internet

Taxpayers can access and print federal tax forms, instructions, tax publications and other tax information from the Internet.

Federal Tax Registration

Any newly formed business which pays wages to one or more employees or is required to file federal reports must apply for an Employer Identification Number (EIN) using Form SS-4. Complete Form SS-4 and apply by fax, phone or internet. The fax and telephone numbers are listed in the instructions for Form SS-4. Use the above web site and search for SS-4 to gain access to the internet application process.

The EIN is required on federal forms, as well as state and local government forms. It is also required as identification on business accounts, such as bank accounts, brokerage accounts, vendor accounts, etc.

Form: SS-4 – App. for Employer Identification No.

Federal Employer Record-keeping

The IRS does not normally prescribe the form a business should follow in keeping employee records; however, the information maintained should include the following:

- Amounts and dates of all wage payments subject to employment taxes

- Names, addresses, occupations and social security numbers of employees
- Period of employment (hiring date, termination date)
- Periods for which employees are paid while absent for illness or injuries and the amount of payment
- Employees' W-4 withholding exemption certificates
- Duplicate copies of quarterly and annual returns filed
- Dates and amounts of any tax deposits made

These records should be kept for a period of at least four years after the respective date the taxes are due or the date taxes are paid, whichever is later.

Federal Withholding Requirements

Federal employment taxes include taxes withheld from an employee's pay by the employer, such as Federal Income Tax, FICA (Social Security) and Medicare, as well as Federal Unemployment Tax (FUTA) paid by the employer only.

The Federal Circular E, Publication 15, Employer's Tax Guide, provides information about the employer/employee relationship, what constitutes taxable wages, the treatment of special types of employment, and special types of payments. The IRS also offers Publication 334, Tax Guide for Small Business. Free copies are available at local offices of the Internal Revenue Service or by calling 1-800-829-3676.

Income Tax Withholding

An employer must withhold income tax from an employee's wages, regardless of the amount paid. There are no minimum or maximum amounts of gross income from which to withhold.

The amount of income tax withheld from the employee's gross wages is determined by:

- Gross wages
- Pay-period frequency
- Marital status
- Exemptions claimed on the employee's W-4

The employer uses the information furnished by the employee on Form W-4 along with the circular E tables to determine the amount of income tax to withhold for each pay period. If an employee fails to furnish a W-4, the employer must withhold taxes as if the employee were single and had one withholding exemption. Copies of Form W-4 may be required by the IRS.

Social Security and Medicare Taxes (FICA)

The Federal Insurance Contributions Act (FICA) was enacted to insure income for retired persons who work for a certain period of time before their retirement. Social Security and Medicare taxes are paid by the employee and employer. There is a yearly ceiling on the amount of wages subject to FICA taxes.

Nearly all employees, employers and self-employed people are required to participate in the Social Security Program. Employers are required to withhold the appropriate percentage from an employee's pay and provide the employee a receipt for this deduction. The employer is required to keep records for each employee, match the employee's contribution, and make periodic deposits. Additional information can be obtained from the Internal Revenue Service or the Social Security Administration.

Depositing Requirements

An employer may be required to deposit employment taxes. This can be done by using the Electronic Federal Tax Payment System (EFTPS) or by depositing funds with an authorized commercial bank, domestic savings and loan association, credit union, or a Federal Reserve Bank. Any new business indicating employees on their SS-4 application will automatically be enrolled in EFTPS. Information will be mailed to the new business concerning this time saving electronic tax payment system. Further information on general depositing requirements may be found in Circular E.

A Federal Tax Deposit, Form 8109, must accompany each deposit of withheld income and social security taxes if you are using the bank deposit method. After applying for an Employer Identification Number, one deposit form is automatically mailed to each employer. More may be ordered if the employer does not choose to use EFTPS. If none are received, Form 8109B can be obtained at your local IRS office.

Electronic Federal Tax Payment System (EFTPS) is a payment system offered free from the U.S. Department of the Treasury, designed with busy taxpayers in mind. Using the Internet or a phone, you input your tax payment information and send it.

This electronic payment system is an alternative to the paper depositing system. More than 4.6 million taxpayers are enrolled in EFTPS, saving time and money by paying their federal business taxes electronically.

You can get more information about EFTPS by going to their website at www.eftps.gov, or you can contact your local IRS office.

Form: 8109 - Federal Tax Deposit filed with each withholding deposit

Quarterly Filing Requirements

An employer required to withhold income or social security taxes must file Form 941 quarterly reporting the amounts withheld.

Criminal and civil penalties are provided for the willful failure to file returns and pay the tax or for willfully filing false or fraudulent returns.

By February 28, copy A of Form W-2 must be sent to the Social Security Administration (SSA) Office along with Form W-3, "Transmittal of Wage and Tax Statements." The mailing address is printed on the back of Form W-3.

Employers filing 250 or more W-2 forms must file them on magnetic media (or electronically) unless the IRS grants a waiver. A penalty may be charged for failure to file on magnetic media (or electronically) when required. Employers are encouraged to file on magnetic media (or electronically) even if filing fewer than 250 W-2 forms.

Federal Unemployment Tax

An employer liable for withholding taxes is usually liable for Federal Unemployment Taxes (FUTA) as well. The Federal Unemployment Tax Act provides for cooperation between the states and the federal government in establishing and administering the unemployment program. Employers may be liable for the state unemployment tax and not liable for FUTA.

If an employer pays wages of $1,500 or more in any calendar quarter or has one or more employees in any 20 calendar weeks (not necessarily consecutive weeks), the employer usually must file Form 940 or Form 940EZ. Federal tax deposits may be required, depending upon amounts due.

Form: 940 - Employer's Annual Federal Unemployment (FUTA) Tax Return

Deadline: January 31 of the next calendar year

Federal Income Tax Record-keeping

You must keep records so that you can prepare a complete and accurate tax return. The law does not normally require any special form of records. You should, however, keep all receipts, canceled checks and other evidence to prove amounts you claim as deductions or credits. Records are adequate if they show current income on the basis of an annual accounting period. A record keeping system for a small business might include the following:

- Business checkbooks
- Summary of cash receipts
- Check disbursements journal
- Depreciation record
- Employee compensation record

You must have the books and records of your business available for inspection by the IRS. Keep records that support an item on your return until the statute of limitations runs out – usually three years after the return is filed or two years after the tax is paid, whichever is later. Employment records must be kept for four years.

Note: IRS Publication 583, Starting a Business and Keeping Business Records, contains more information about record keeping for your business. Contact the IRS for a free copy.

Federal Estimated Tax for Corporations

A corporation usually must make estimated tax payments if it expects its estimated tax (income tax less credits) to be $500 or more. S corporations must also make estimated payments for certain taxes. A corporation that does not pay estimated tax when due may be charged an underpayment penalty.

Form: 1120-W - Estimated Tax for Corporations

Deadlines: 15th day of the 4th, 6th, 9th and 12th months of the tax year

Federal Business Income Tax

Normally, the IRS requires you to report business activities each year, even if you have a loss for the year. How you report your income and expenses will depend on your business structure. Corporations normally file on Form 1120 or Form 1120S. Partnerships will normally file Form 1065. Sole proprietors normally report income and expenses on Schedule C of Form 1040.

When income or losses are received by a shareholder, partner or a sole proprietor, the information may be carried over separate schedules, and then to Form 1040. Information on necessary forms or schedules can be obtained from the IRS.

Estimated Tax for Individuals

When profits are to be carried over to Form 1040 by a sole proprietor, partner, or shareholder, it is possible that a declaration of estimated tax would be required. To determine if you are required to pay federal estimated tax payments, first project your net taxable income for the year. This estimate will include your profit or loss from the business, combined with any other taxable income you received for the year. You may be required to pay estimated tax payments if you do not have withholding to cover 90% of the total tax due for the year or 100% of your prior years tax liability, and your tax due exceeds $1,000.

Your estimated tax payment may include additional income tax due on business profits and self-employment tax. The self-employment tax provides social security coverage for self-employed workers. It is paid by self-employed persons in place of social security tax and Medicare payments that are normally withheld and matched by an employer. Self-employment tax is computed on Schedule SE and attached to Form 1040.

To estimate your federal income tax and self-employment tax, use IRS Form 1040ES. Form 1040ES has instructions, a worksheet, and four declaration vouchers for use in sending estimated tax payments. Use the worksheet to determine any income tax or self-employment tax you may owe. Federal estimated payments are due quarterly. You may be charged a penalty if you do not make required payments in the correct amount or in a timely manner.

Electronic Federal Tax Payment System (EFTPS) is offered free from the U.S. Department of Treasury, designed with busy taxpayers in mind. Using the Internet or a phone, you input your tax payment information and send it.

The electronic system is an alternative to filing Form 1040ES on paper. You can schedule your payments up to 365 days in advance; payments will be made on the scheduled dates. An EFT acknowledgment number is received upon successful completion and acceptance of the payment.

You can schedule all four estimated payments in one transaction. This eliminates the chance of estimated payments being late or lost in the mail, and reduces the chances of being assessed an estimated tax penalty.

You can get more information about EFTPS on the Internet at www.eftps.gov, or you can contact your local IRS office.

Labor Laws For All Industries

Hours Employed

There are specific state and federal laws that apply to employers regarding the amount of wages you pay, youth employment, etc. Before determining which laws apply to your business, the criteria separating the two must be studied.

Federal Labor and Wage Information

The Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) establishes minimum wage, overtime pay, record keeping and child labor standards affecting full-time and part-time workers in the private sector and in federal, state and local governments.

Covered non-exempt workers are entitled to a minimum wage of not less than $5.15 an hour. Overtime pay at a rate of not less than one and one-half times an employee's regular rates of pay is required after 40 hours of work in a workweek.

The FLSA contains some exemptions from these basic standards. Some apply to specific types of businesses; others apply to specific kinds of work.

Who is Covered

All employees of certain enterprises having workers engaged in interstate commerce, producing goods for interstate commerce, or handling, selling or otherwise working on goods or materials that have been moved in or produced for such commerce by any person are covered by FLSA.

A covered enterprise is one with related activities performed through unified operation or common control by any persons for a common business purpose and any of the following:

- Whose annual gross volume of sales made or business done is not less than $500,000 (exclusive of excise taxes at the retail level that are separately stated)

- Is engaged in the operation of a hospital, an institution primarily engaged in the care of those who are physically or mentally ill, disabled or aged, and who reside on the premises, a school for children who are mentally or physically disabled or gifted, a preschool, an elementary or secondary school, or an institution of higher education (whether operated for profit or not for profit)
- Is an activity of a public agency

Any enterprise that was covered by FLSA on March 31, 1990, and that ceased to be covered because of the increase in the enterprise coverage dollar volume test, must continue to pay its employees not less than $3.35 an hour and continues to be subject to the overtime pay, child labor and record keeping provisions of FLSA.

Employers of firms that are not covered enterprises under FLSA may still be subject to its minimum wage, overtime pay and child labor provisions if the employees are individually engaged in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for interstate commerce. Such employees include those who:

- Work in communications or transportation
- Regularly use the mail, telephone, or telegraph for interstate communication, or keep records of interstate transactions
- Handle, ship or receive goods moving in interstate commerce
- Regularly cross state lines in the course of employment
- Work for independent employers who contract to do clerical, custodial, maintenance or other work for firms engaged in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for interstate commerce.

Domestic service workers, such as day workers, housekeepers, chauffeurs, cooks or full-time baby-sitters are covered if either of the following apply:

- They receive at least $50 in cash wages in a calendar quarter from their employers.
- They work a total of more than 8 hours a week for one or more employers.

Tipped Employees

Tipped employees are those who customarily and regularly receive more than $30 a month in tips. The employer may consider tips as part of wages, but such a wage credit must not exceed the difference between the required cash wage of $2.13 an hour and the applicable Federal Minimum Wage.

An employer who elects to use the tip credit provision must inform the employee in advance and must be able to show that the employee receives at least the minimum wage when direct wages and the tip credit allowance are combined. Also, employees must retain all of their tips, except to the extent that they participate in a valid tip-pooling or sharing arrangement. Tips should be reported to the employer by the employee and are subject to federal and state taxes. An employee can contribute 15 percent of tips received, after deducting the amount needed to make the minimum wage, as a tip pool.

Industrial Homework

The performance of certain types of work in an employee's home is prohibited under the law unless the employer has obtained prior certification from the Department of Labor. If you have questions about whether a certain type of work is restricted, or who is eligible for a certificate, or how to obtain a certificate, you may contact the local Wage-Hour office.

Sub-minimum Wage Provisions

The FLSA provides for the employment of certain individuals at wage rates below the statutory minimum. Such individuals include student-learners (vocational education students), as well as full-time students in retail or service establishments, agriculture or institutions of higher education. Also included are individuals whose earning or productive capacity is impaired by a physical or mental disability, including those related to age or injury, for the work to be performed. Employment at less than the minimum wage is provided for in order to prevent curtailment of opportunities for employment. Such employment is permitted only under certificates issued by Wage-Hour.

Exemptions

Some employees are excluded from the overtime pay provisions or both the minimum wage and overtime pay provisions by specific exemptions.

Because exemptions are generally narrowly defined under FLSA, an employer should carefully check the exact terms and conditions for each. Detailed information is available from local Wage-Hour offices.

Federal Child Labor Requirements

Nonagricultural Jobs (Child Labor)

Regulations governing youth employment in nonfarm jobs differ somewhat from those pertaining to agricultural employment. In nonfarm work, the permissible jobs and hours of work, by age, are as follows.

1. Youths 18 years or older may perform any job, whether hazardous or not, for unlimited hours.
2. Youths 16 and 17 years old may perform any nonhazardous job, for unlimited hours.
3. Youths 14 and 15 years old may work outside school hours in various non-manufacturing, non-mining, nonhazardous jobs under the following conditions: no more than 3 hours on a school day, 18 hours in a school week, 8 hours on a non-school day, or 40 hours in a non-school week. Also, work may not begin before 7 a.m., nor end after 7 p.m., except from June 1 through Labor Day, when evening hours are extended to 9 p.m. Under a special provision, youths 14 and 15 years old enrolled in an approved Work Experience and Career Exploration Program (WECEP) may be employed for up to 23 hours in school weeks and 3 hours on school days (including during school hours).

The minimum age for most nonfarm work is 14. However, at any age, youths may deliver newspapers; perform in radio, television, movie, or theatrical productions; work for parents in their solely-owned nonfarm business (except in manufacturing or on hazardous jobs); or gather evergreens and make evergreen wreaths.

Farm Jobs (Child Labor)

In farm work, permissible jobs and hours of work, by age, are as follows:

1. Youths 16 years and older may perform any job, whether hazardous or not, for unlimited hours.
2. Youths 14 and 15 years old may perform any nonhazardous farm job outside of school hours.
3. Youths 12 and 13 years old may work outside of school hours in nonhazardous jobs, either with a parent's written consent or on the same farm as the parent(s)
4. Youths under 12 years old may perform jobs on farms owned or operated by parent(s), or with a parent's written consent, outside of school hours in nonhazardous jobs on farms not covered by minimum wage requirements.

Minors of any age may be employed by their parents at any time in any occupation on a farm owned or operated by their parents.

Record-keeping

The FLSA requires employers to keep records on wages, hours, and other items, as specified in Department of Labor record-keeping regulations. Most of the information is of the kind generally maintained by employers in ordinary business practice and in compliance with other laws and regulations. The records do not have to be kept in any particular form and time clocks need not be used. With respect to an employee subject to the minimum wage provisions or both the minimum wage and overtime pay provisions, the following records must be kept:

- Personal information, including employee's name, home address, occupation, sex, and birth date if under 19 years of age

- Hour and day when workweek begins
- Total hours worked each workday and each workweek
- Total daily or weekly straight-time earnings
- Regular hourly pay rate for any week when overtime is worked
- Total overtime pay for the workweek
- Deductions from or additions to wages
- Total wages paid each pay period
- Date of payment and pay period covered

Records required for exempt employees differ from those for nonexempt workers. Special information is required for homeworkers, for employees working under uncommon pay arrangements, for employees to whom lodging or other facilities are furnished, and for employees receiving remedial education.
